

Dear Frassati Families,

It's hard to believe that three months have passed since I waved goodbye to our students as they ventured off to spring break. I spent my break developing plans with the help of many faculty members so that we could adapt to a new form of teaching and learning in a very short amount of time. We learned many lessons during this unique experience. Some of the most important lessons had nothing to do with Chromebooks, textbooks or worksheets. Our reliance on Christ and our Catholic faith was an important first lesson. It is easy for us to take things for granted in our fast paced society. We often get too busy to stop and appreciate all that God has provided. Frassati Catholic Academy is one of those gifts that we have received. All too often it takes an unexpected challenge to help us realize the important gifts we have been given. Catholic education is a gift that began with Jesus, the master teacher, 2000 years ago and continues with him today.

The future is uncertain but I want to assure you that I am working diligently with many other Catholic School principals, archdiocesan leaders, and our bishops to develop plans to be open in the fall. Distance learning is sometimes necessary but it can never replace the positive interactions between our teachers and our students. Bishop Cozzens recently wrote, "Consistent with our love and care for families, we are committed to working with pastors, principals and administrators to re-open our school buildings in late August or early September."

There are more questions than answers as I write to you today. However, I am confident that Frassati Catholic Academy will adopt a plan that helps our students experience a rich Catholic education grounded in the teachings of Christ and his Church. The development of this plan will be informed by the work of the Catholic School Task Force convened by our bishops. The task force is made up of experts in education, finance, communication, law, public health and mental health. Their work is supported by the Catholic Schools Center of Excellence. I am involved in weekly meetings with many other principals tackling these challenges and developing sound plans so we can re-open safely.

I pledge to keep you informed of the developments as the planning process continues. Please do not hesitate to contact me with questions over the summer. I promise to keep you in my prayers and look forward to seeing you in person on the first day of school!
